Exhibition 'Sweep Them All away'

This exhibition is dedicated to the Jewish physicians that had their medical license revoked by the Nazi authorities in 1938. It shows the life stories of 20 physicians from South Germany that stand by way of example for thousands of others in the whole of the country. In 1933 approximately 8,000 Jewish doctors were practising in Germany. The Chair of the National Socialist Association of German Physicians, Dr. Gerhard Wagner, in March 1933, he was referring to those doctors when he incited all German physicians to: 'Sweep them all away, those who do not want to understand the signs of the time!' The medical community was only too willing to follow his words and fit in with the new regulations. Blow by blow the Jewish physicians were driven out of the community. Following the revocation of their medical licenses came the ban on Jews working as dentists, veterinarians or pharmacists on January 31, 1939.

Sightseeing in Nuremberg Memorium Nuremberg Trials

In 1945-49, Court Room 600 of the Regional Court Nürnberg-Fürth, gained worldwide fame as the venue of the 'Nuremberg Trials'. The courtroom is still used, especially for murder trials. In order to do justice to growing visitors' interest and to the importance of those trials, the Memorium Nuremberg Trials has been established in this historic location as a new information centre and memorial site. In May 2000, the Nuremberg Municipal Museums opened Court room 600 for the first time for public guided tours.

Documentation Centre Nazi Party Rally Grounds

To this day, in Nuremberg's southern districts, the remains of the buildings on the former Nazi Party Rally Grounds with their immense proportions are a vivid testimony to the megalomania of the National Socialist regime. This area of eleven square kilometres was intended as an impressive backdrop for the Nazi party rallies staged here to demonstrate their power. The Documentation Centre of the Nazi Party Rally Grounds is located in the North wing of the Congress Hall. The Hall remained unfinished but was originally designed by the National Socialists to house up to 50,000 spectators.
